INTRODUCTION

This course focuses on the study and performance of plays written in various historical and social contexts, and the devising of drama based on that study.

The course ensures a thorough study of specific theatre genres and periods and the opportunity to apply knowledge, skills and understanding in the production and devising of plays.

The course has a two-paper structure and it represents one year of post-GCSE study.

AIMS

The aims of the syllabus are the same for all students. These are set out below and describe the educational purposes of a course in AS Drama. They are not listed in order of priority.

The aims are:

- to develop understanding of drama through practical, analytical and theoretical study;
- to foster knowledge and understanding of the social and cultural contexts of drama and theatre, through detailed study of dramatic texts, and practical exploration of drama written in different periods, in different styles and with different aims;
- to broaden and deepen the knowledge, skills and understanding acquired in the IGCSE drama course;
- to stimulate an interest in and enjoyment of drama and theatre;
- to provide a meaningful and satisfying course of study that increases understanding and knowledge, develops creativity and imagination and fosters personal and social growth.

DESCRIPTION OF PAPERS

Paper 1: Coursework – Theory into Practice

1 A Scripted Drama

Candidates will research, prepare and perform an acting OR technical OR production role in a significant and substantial piece of scripted drama taken from one of the set plays listed on page 10.

The scripted piece must be of sufficient length (at least 45 minutes) and difficulty to allow candidates to demonstrate their skills, knowledge and understanding.

Assessment focus

- Candidates undertaking an acting role are assessed on their ability to select and apply performance techniques and conventions (e.g. movement, use of space, vocal expression of text) in order to perform convincingly in a style appropriate to their chosen theatre genre or period. The performance should reflect candidates' exploration of the ways in which the social, historical and cultural context of the play might affect its interpretation and production.
- Candidates undertaking a technical or production role are assessed on their skills in researching, planning and carrying out ONE of the following three roles in a way which is integral to the performance and enhances its effectiveness:
 1. Set design
 2. Costume, make-up and/or masks
 3. Lighting

The performance should reflect candidates' exploration of the ways in which the social, historical and cultural context of the play might affect its production.

1 B Devised Drama

Candidates will devise and perform one original piece of theatre which demonstrates their research and applies their knowledge of one of the specified theatre genres or periods listed on page 10.

Candidates MUST choose a DIFFERENT theatre genre or period from that chosen for their scripted drama.

Devised drama should be of sufficient length (30 to 45 minutes) to allow candidates to demonstrate their ability to shape and structure their material.

Assessment focus

- Candidates are assessed on their ability to devise and shape dramatic material into an original piece of theatre that effectively communicates ideas, feelings and/or meaning to an audience.
- Candidates are assessed on their ability to relate knowledge and understanding of their chosen theatre genre or period to their devised drama.
- Candidates are assessed on their ability to select appropriate performance elements, techniques and conventions (e.g. movement, use of space, vocal expression of text, use of properties, lighting, costume, make up) and apply them effectively.

Guidance on Coursework:

The prescribed group size is between TWO and SIX candidates. Each candidate should be allowed broadly equal exposure.

Centres must record all coursework on video or DVD.

Candidates participate in the planning, rehearsal and performance of drama, and are assessed on their individual practical contributions. Coursework videos/DVDs will be moderated by an external Moderator appointed by Cambridge.

All candidates' work should be marked according to the assessment criteria and the work of six candidates (selected by the Centre, covering the whole mark range) compiled onto VHS videocassette or DVD for submission to the Cambridge moderator. Additionally, candidates in the sample who are undertaking a technical or production role are requested to submit supplementary evidence, for example the set design, costume designs, lighting plan etc. to support the recorded performance on video/DVD.

For work submitted on DVD please note that only full-sized DVDs will be accepted, and Centres must ensure that they can be played on a stand-alone DVD player before despatching the moderation sample to Cambridge.

Cambridge does not expect candidates to undertake coursework without guidance and continuing supervision from teachers. The degree of teacher guidance will vary according to the kinds of work being undertaken. Teachers may intervene during the assessment of coursework to challenge candidates on their use of ideas and the crafting of the drama. The teacher may also act as director for the group performance of the piece of repertoire.

Teachers must:

- select appropriate repertoire for candidates;
- set and/or negotiate coursework tasks;
- exercise continuing supervision of the work in order to monitor individual progress;
- ensure that the work is completed in accordance with the syllabus requirements and can be assessed in accordance with the marking criteria and procedures;
- provide a cover sheet to accompany the video or DVD, outlining details of the candidates, tasks, marks and so on.

Paper 2: Written Examination

This Paper will be based on a study of TWO of the set plays listed on page 10. Each of the chosen plays must be taken from DIFFERENT genres/periods. A choice of two questions will be provided for each of the twelve texts.

The play performed by candidates for Paper 1A and one of the plays corresponding to the genre chosen for Paper 1B should also be studied for Paper 2.

Candidates answer TWO questions – one on each of the plays they have studied – which provide an opportunity to analyze and apply knowledge and understanding of drama processes and performance to the set plays chosen.

Candidates will be expected to demonstrate an understanding of the production process (role of actor, director, stage management, design, set, lighting, sound, costume, make-up) in relation to the theatre genres and periods.

Set texts should be studied from a performance perspective based on knowledge, understanding and skills developed through the practical work in Paper 1 (Coursework).

Candidates should show knowledge and understanding of:

- how plays relate to the contexts in which they are created and/or performed;
- the ways in which directors, performers and theatre technicians can interpret texts and convey meaning to an audience;
- the importance of historical, social and cultural influences on plays and styles of performance;
- drama and theatre terms and concepts.
